Linda, you are a real riot. You have some my birthday, + you saw ya? What you put on my house. Nancy, how were up stairs have you gettin' on? And who saw ya? What you put in paper and roll. And they got mad. Who's big march the field and ended up by a bridge. Who's little brown sack? What did you have in the creek? On Really!! sure? What did you have in the creek? On Really!! sack? What did you have in the creek? On Really!! wonderful this has really been a big and

And as Tennyson told the tale in older times of a legend handed down thro' five or six, of a castle founded upon a mighty hill, of a city walled whose spires were incredible pinnacles reaching into heaven. Toward the palace there ventured many starfs who said "let us go no further" for by the gateway stood a crowd crying "welcome". So onward to the fortress rode the five and were lost for six years behind the walls which housed halls broader and mightier than any in all the lands! This was the city of enchanters!

They had carried a yet unblazoned shield, but they did mightier deeds than elsewhere had been done and so their realm was made, and so their shield was cut with the history of every dint a sword had beaten in it, and with every scratch a lance had made upon it. Their mark was made.

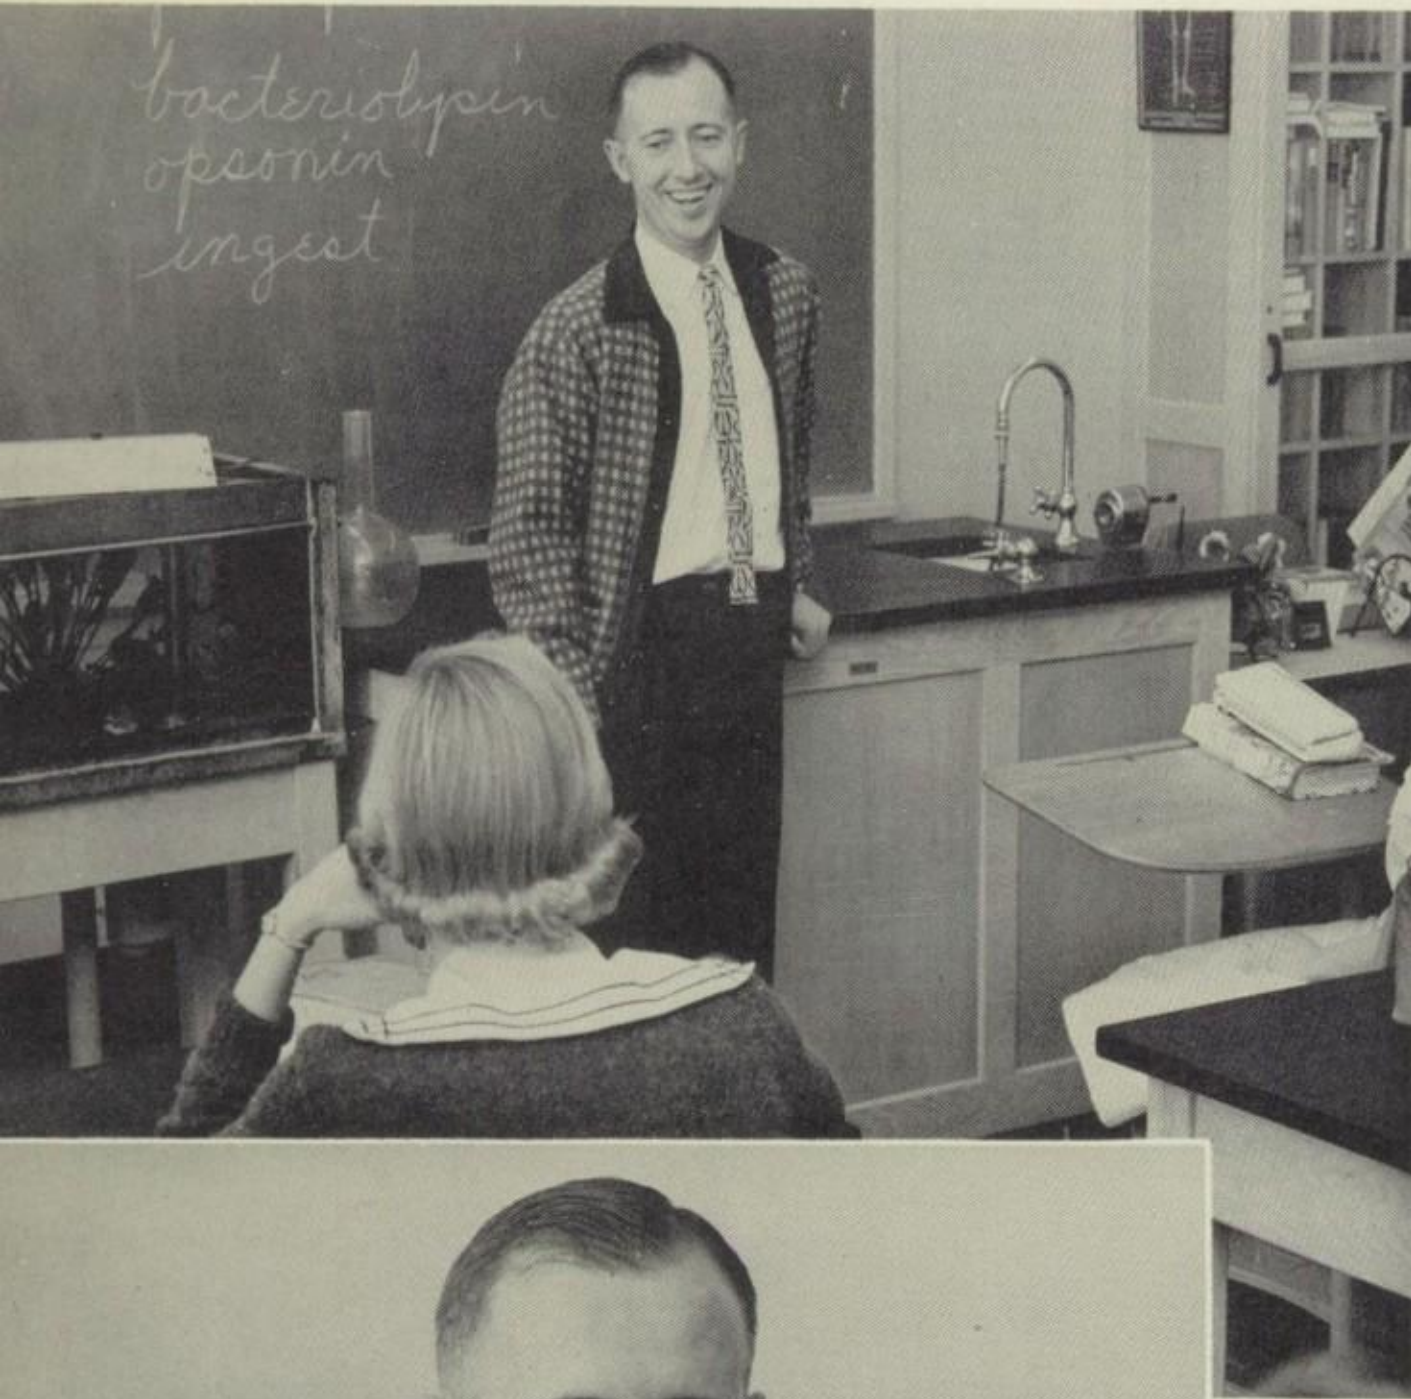

In September, 1957, did they emerge on the threshold of their aspiration for they had surmounted the obstacles to knighthood. Thus did it become necessary for these distinguished knights to record the fruits wrought from five years labor. Thus came a timeline for future aspirants to look back upon. Thus came the legend of the reign of 1958.

So let it be written, so let it be done.

King for the Year

Gratefully, we, the first class to complete six years at Westside Jr.-Sr. High School, dedicate The 1958 Shield to Mr. Darrell M. Woods, Chairman of the Science department. "Thou art worthy of the Table Round."

Tirelessly, diligently, for six years he has taught, laughed with, helped, and spired the Class of 1958. He will long be remembered for he is "truly the golden symbol of kingliness."

Royal Court

Ran across the memory of the Table Round the strange rhyme "Where is he who knows? From the great deep to the great deep he goes." Thou who art watching the Magicians with eyes of wonder thence to the court did pass to climb to the mighty halls that Merlin built. They heard rumors of flying thro' the court but were looked upon and found wanting by those in whom had been breathed a secret thing.

Mighty the Wizards who found them and learned them Magic! Great the Masters and sweet the magic and all around floated the Gleam. Thus truth was multiplied on truth for in their raiments' hem was traced in flame--WISDOM, a name to shake all dreams--a sacred name to bear seed of men and growth of minds.

So the lords and ladies of the high court went and have ye seen how nobly changed thou art? This work of theirs is truly great and wonderful. Merlin's wisdom knowing all arts had touched everywhere and hast furthered the purpose of lives. And in the chairs set up a stronger race of hearts and hand, set a thousand men of the Table Round to fill the wastes. "So make manhood mightier day by day."

Knights

No longer shadowed but clothed with the gleam as thou art knights, peerless, rapt in the fancy of the Table Round. Born to the glory of thy name and fame thou art changed indeed, for it was prophesied thou wert worthy of that great Order of the Table Round. Knighthood taught thou to live pure, speak true, right wrong, and follow the gleam, and thus thou knowest the veil to be withdrawn to a glorious company, the flower of men to serve as models for the mighty. And on they rode and greater was their thirst for wisdom; like coins everyone stamped with the image of the Table Round. But unsolder all and find the goodliest fellowship of famous knights hereof the world holds.

record for all this order of thy Table Round fulfill the boundless purpose of their king. As they stand at a height in their lives with a glimpse of a height that is higher. Even now they hear with inward strife the Spirit of the years to come yearning to mix itself with life. A slow-developed strength awaits completion in a living school.

Those great lords and barons of the realms who with backs turned and bowed above their work will bind thee to live pure, speak true, right wrong, and follow the Gleam, will bind thee by such vows as is a shame a man should not be bound by, yet which any man can keep.

They made these pretexts, for their principedoms lay close on the borders of a territory wherein were bandit earls, and caitiff knights, assassins, and all flyers from the band of Justice, and what ever loathes a law. At last ye are in their power, in the power of tribes of the Table Round dressed in many hues, and mingled with the spearman to shun the wild ways of the lawless tribes.

Student Council

Some of the projects of this year's council were convocations, a student council library, a calendar schedule for school meetings, a suggestion box, a speakers' committee to inform Jr. High students about high school club activities, and Open House. The main project was the setting up of a point system limiting the number of offices that could be held by one student.

Hi-Y

In September the Hi-Y started out with a bang by tripling their former membership. With this increased membership, a virtual Hi-Y army took the field by selling Westsidebeanies, apples, candy bars, seat cushions, and many other things. Along with this frenzied selling, the Hi-Y pep section and cheerleaders added much to the pep rallies and games.

During Thanksgiving vacation fifteen enthusiastic Hi-Y-ers went to the annual Hi-Y youth and government meeting at Lincoln. Westside's bill was passed with only one descenting vote and was one of the six bills passed. Bill Encell was elected Boy Governor.

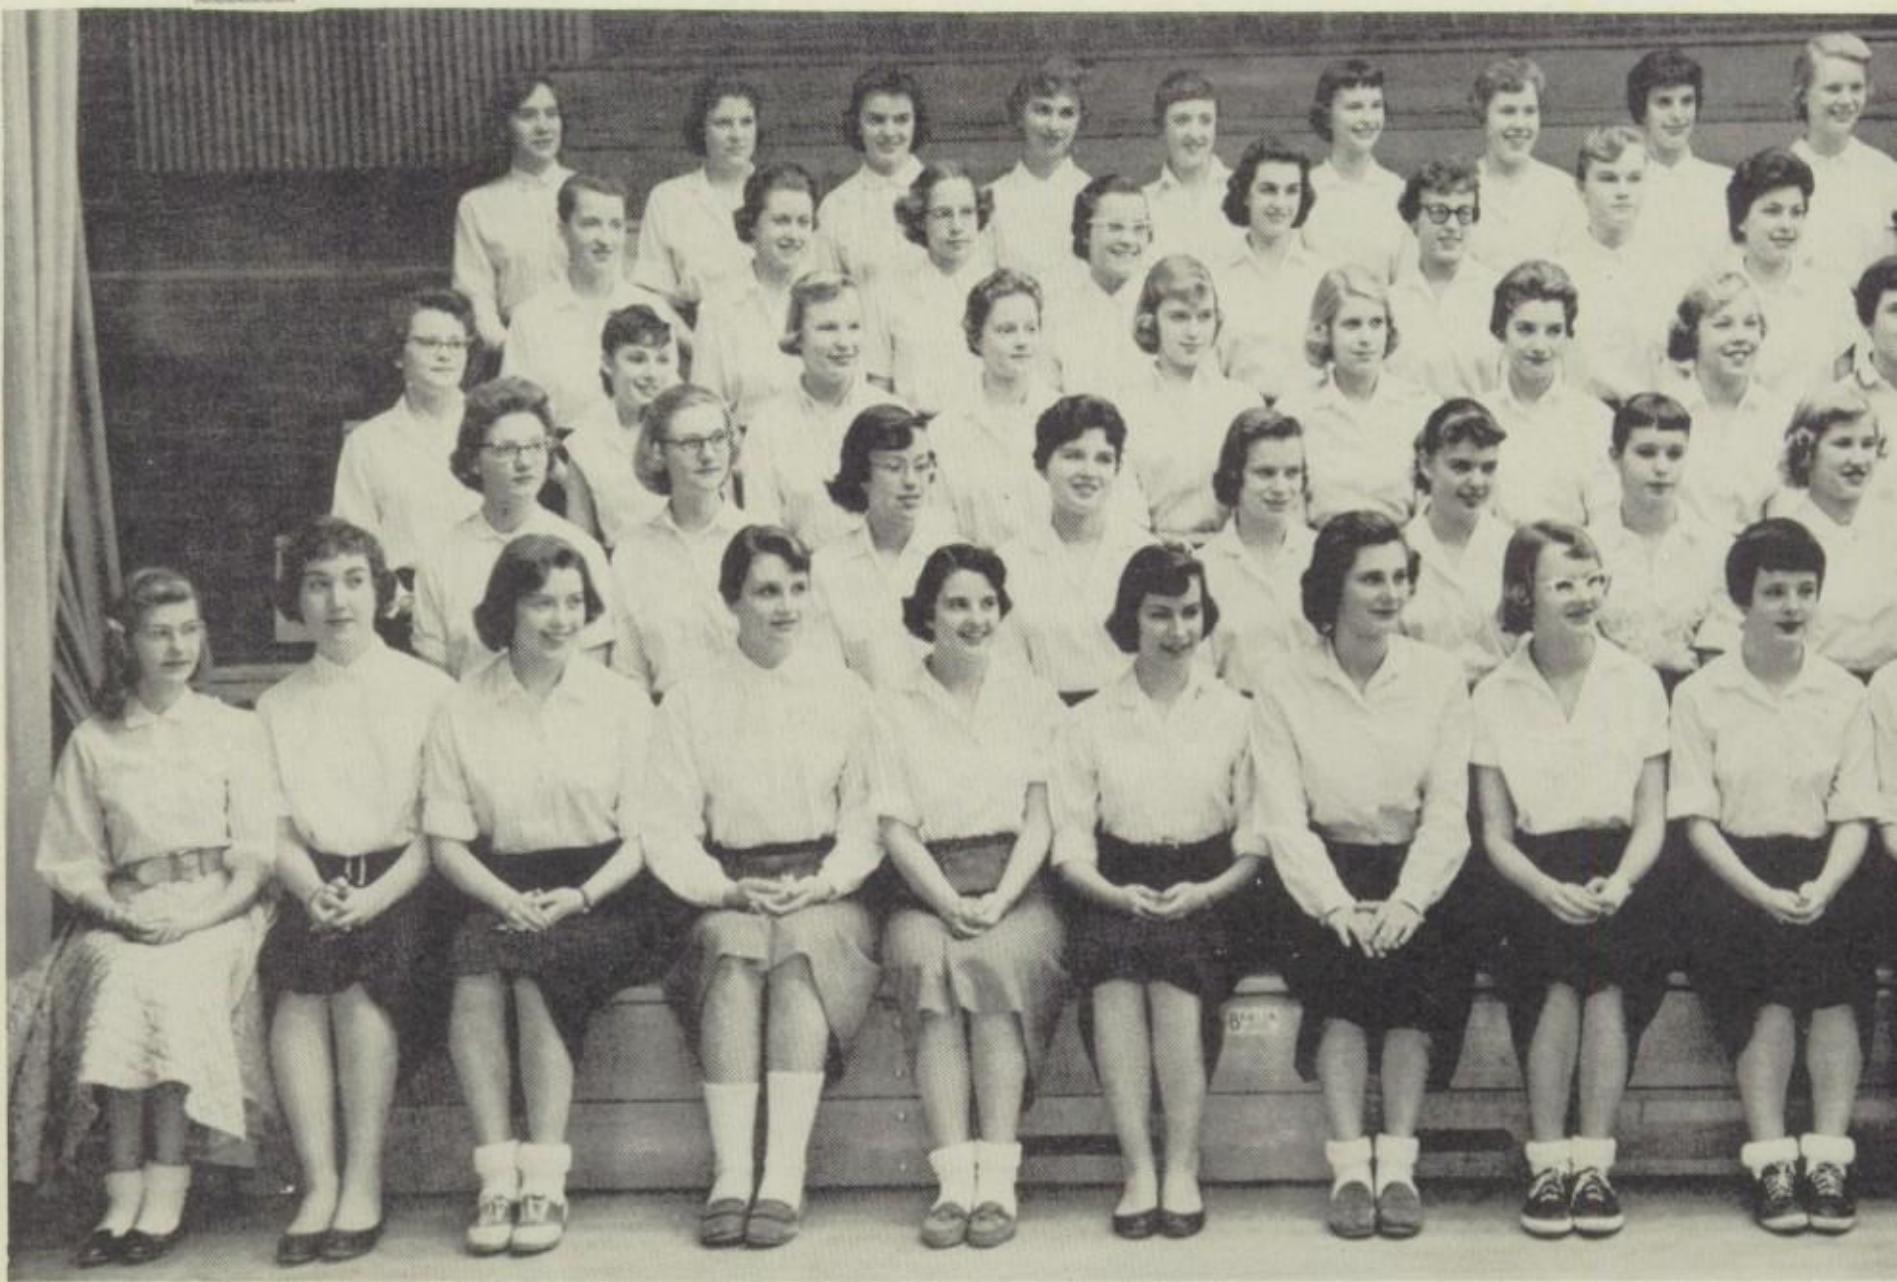

Soon after the start of the new year, the Hi-Y was split into two chapters-- a junior chapter for freshmen and sophomores, and a senior chapter for juniors and seniors. This arrangement, which began this year is expected to fulfill its potential next years with increased efficiency and more interest to Hi-Y members.

Other projects undertaken this year included the selling of car wash tickets, Mrs. Leland's Golden Butter Bits, taking orphans from St. James Orphanage to the movies, and a dance at the Tower party room.

"Y" Teens

Carol Kohl, Anne Taylor, and Lynn Armstrong dressed dolls for the annual Y-Teen project.

Beverly Blazek, Vice-President, tells of her trip to a Y-Teen convention to President, Carol Bogle, and Secretary-Treasurer, Lynn Armstrong.

The purpose of the Young Women's Christian Association is: "To build a fellowship of women and girls devoted to the task of realizing in our common life those ideals of personal and social living to which we are committed by our faith as Christians. In this endeavor we seek to understand Jesus and to share his love for all people."

The most important goals of the teen-age affiliate of the Y.W.C.A., the Y-Teens, are to grow as a person and to grow in the knowledge and love of God.

To carry out these goals many religious and charitable projects have been organized. Some of these services are dressing dolls for the Good Fellows, a style show to raise money for World Fellowship Funds, needlework, Christmas caroling in Omaha hospitals, candy and bake sales, and Lenten services at Thanksgiving and Easter.

They must be recommended by the sponsor or by the committee governing publications. (5) They must be approved by the executive secretary and the board.

Key Club

Highlights of this year's Key Club were raising money for the tennis court fund through projects such as the Hi-Y, Key Club basketball game, and the sponsoring of a Career Day for the senior high school.

This was the club's first year of participation in the newly organized Nebraska-Iowa District of Key Clubs, and seen in Lincoln attending the convention of this District were President Steve Dickinson, Vice President John Fisher, Secretary Steve Spaulding, Treasurer Bill Buller, as well as Sonny Brown, Barry MacAnally, Ron Saffer, and Bill Wright.

This service organization, affiliated with the Dundee Kiwanis was sponsored by Mr. Pecht.

Scott Sipherd was President of the Jr. Red Cross. As in previous years the club entertained at various hospitals and presented their Annual Horse Show. Other officers were Mac Olmstead, vice-president; Bev Blazek, secretary; Nancy Wright, treasurer; and Sharon Elias, Community service chairman.

Six language students led the International Club through its various successful projects. There were two representatives from each individual language. Left to right: John Fisher, French; Carol Dunn, French; Bob Geisler, Spanish; Cindy Scoular, Latin; Suzie Sipherd, Latin. Not Pictured: Barbara Harn, Spanish.

International Club

The purpose of International Club is to further interest in languages and countries abroad. This past year the combined clubs raised money for the American Field Service and decorated a lounge in a social settlement house. There was a French club banquet, a Mexican dinner for Spanish members, and an interview with foreign exchange students. The club plans to eventually completely support a foreign exchange student from Europe to Omaha. Through an all out candy-selling drive the club came closer to this goal.

Photographers. Club

Radio Club

The Radio Club operated KWHS after school until 4:00, five days a week. They taped a play-by-play of all home basketball games for practice. It is hoped that KWHS will be able to reach more homes in the near future. The journalism class worked in conjunction with KWHS to produce a weekly, 15 minute news cast.

Dennis Tegtmeier spured the club on as President. Phil Robbins served as vice-president and chief engineer. Sprout Hatfield was treasurer and Judy McKinney was secretary. Susie Lucas headed the news staff and Harold Stinson was head reporter.

Thespians

Westside's Thespian Troupe 1602 under the able direction of its sponser, Mrs. Clark, this year has revised and rewritten its constitution. Helping with the Jr. Theater production, Treasure Island, and presenting a bill of three one-act plays in the spring were among the clubs other major projects.

The year was climaxed by a wet, wild picnic at the Omaha Country Club.

National Forensic League

The National Forensic League is an honorary organization with 700 chapters in the leading cities of the United States. There are now more than 100,000 members. The purpose of this organization is to promote debate, oratory, and public speaking by conferring membership in a national organization. To become a member of NFL, a student must earn at least 25 points of credit in forensic work. He must rank in the upper two-thirds of his class and must have leadership and good character and be elected by three-fourths vote of the members.

The purpose of the league is not to confer membership on all who have taken part in forensic work, but to honor with membership those who have demonstrated ability and perserverance. Westside joined the 18 NFL Chapters of Nebraska in March of this year. Westside's chapter now ranks seventh in the state with the prospect of an even higher rank in the near future.

Pep Club Boosts

In 'ye olden times the fair young damsals cheered their valiant knights to further glory. In 1957 the Pep Club cheered their valiant Warriors to victory. Approximately 200 maidens supported the brave Westside teams during football and basketball season.

The Pep Club worked with the W-Club and prepared a spectacular evening of dancing for the Annual Homecoming festivities. They ended their busy year with their Annual Banquet.

As in olden times, four of the fairest damsals led the others through their daily lives as Pep Club members. Nancy Young headed the club as President. She was assisted ably by Suzie Sipherd, vice-president; Suzy Myers, secretary; and Barbara Hankins, treasurer.

GAA

GAA and W-Club are brother-sister organizations devoted to the recognition of athletic inclination.

W-Club drafted a Code of Athletics. They also purchased a large, outstanding athletes' trophy. The names of the outstanding football, basketball, and track participants for each year will be printed on this trophy.

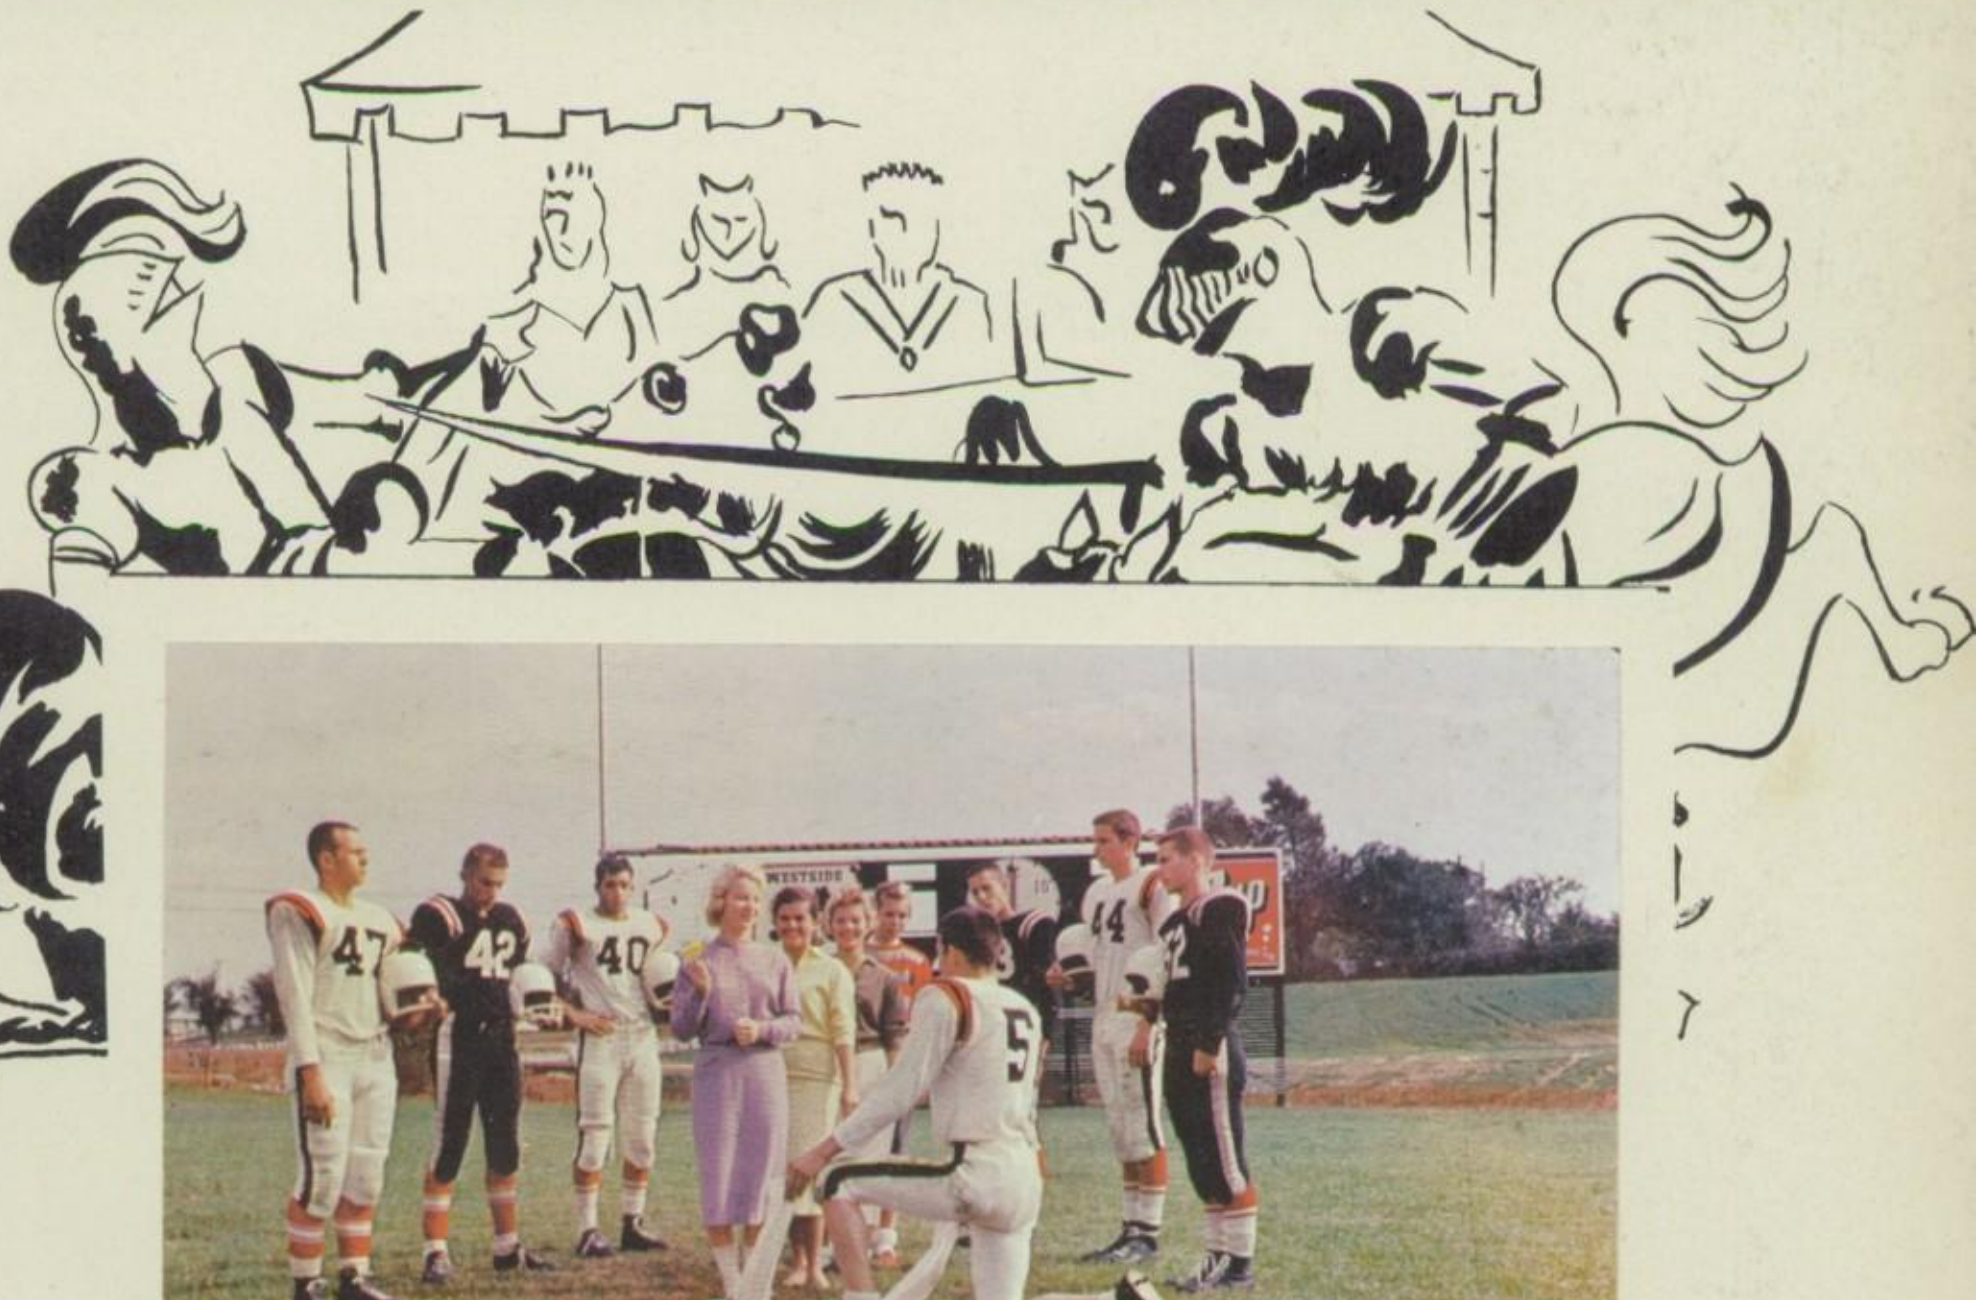

The W-Club sponsored the Homecoming Dance with the Pep Club.

On the Fields of Honor

Far off the war horse neighed. The harmless glamour of the field cried "arise, go forth and conquer as of old." So down went the Table Round to the meadows where the jousts were held and there drew they forth their brand Excalibur. Then with the low roll of autumn thunder the jousts began for needs must learn which is the mightiest and ours shall grow in use of arms and manhood.

Spurred with his war-cry the drumming thunder of the huger fell. The knights clashed like the coming and retiring wave and then lashed at each so often and with such blows that all the crowd wondered, and now and then from distant walls there came a clapping as of phantom hands.

Thus they slew them one by one. No tribute would they pay for they fought and in great battles overcame and made a realm and reigned. They gave command that all which was theirs should be there again. Many a time have I watched thee at the tilt strike down the lusty and long practiced knight. How thy strong lance had beaten down the knights so many and famous names. And in the strength of this they rode shattering all customs everywhere and past thro' realms, and made them theirs, and clashed with hordes and bore them down and broke through all and the strength of this came victor.

With sword they have striven and thou art weary but feel manhood thro' that wearied lance of time. Well hast thou done, Table Round.

In the last play by a vicious tackle, Roger Mertons, saved a victory over Plattsmouth.

Steve Dickinson's speed turned the tide at Fremont.

Gary Baughman helped to stop the Lexington Minute Men from a romp.

The ball handling ability of Duncan Fraser helped to down Fremont.

Two-hundred pound, John Rice, moved with exceptional agility at Bellevue.

Ron Saffer's defensive play was very fine at Lexington.

Remembrances of the season were clinched by the Ak-Sar-Ben Conference championship for the third year in a row. The upset loss to Plattsmouth in the annual conference tourney and the heart breaking 51-50 loss to number one rated Lincoln Northeast inspired the Warriors spirit to the maximum.

In the District finals the Westside twelve lost to the eventual state champions, Holy Name.

The Warriors with their hard playing brought Westside a rating of number eight in the state of Nebraska.

The Merry Minstrels

The trumpets blew and knighthood sang "blow trumpet! for our sun grows mightier day by day." Out of the castle a blast of music pealed the violence of the beat which was nigh to burst. They sent all their heart and breadth thro' all the horn and rolling music echoed down the walls. A sound as of a silver horn from o'er the hills: and the slender sound as from a distance beyond distance grew. O never harp nor horn, nor aught they blow with breathe, or touch with hand was like that music as it came.

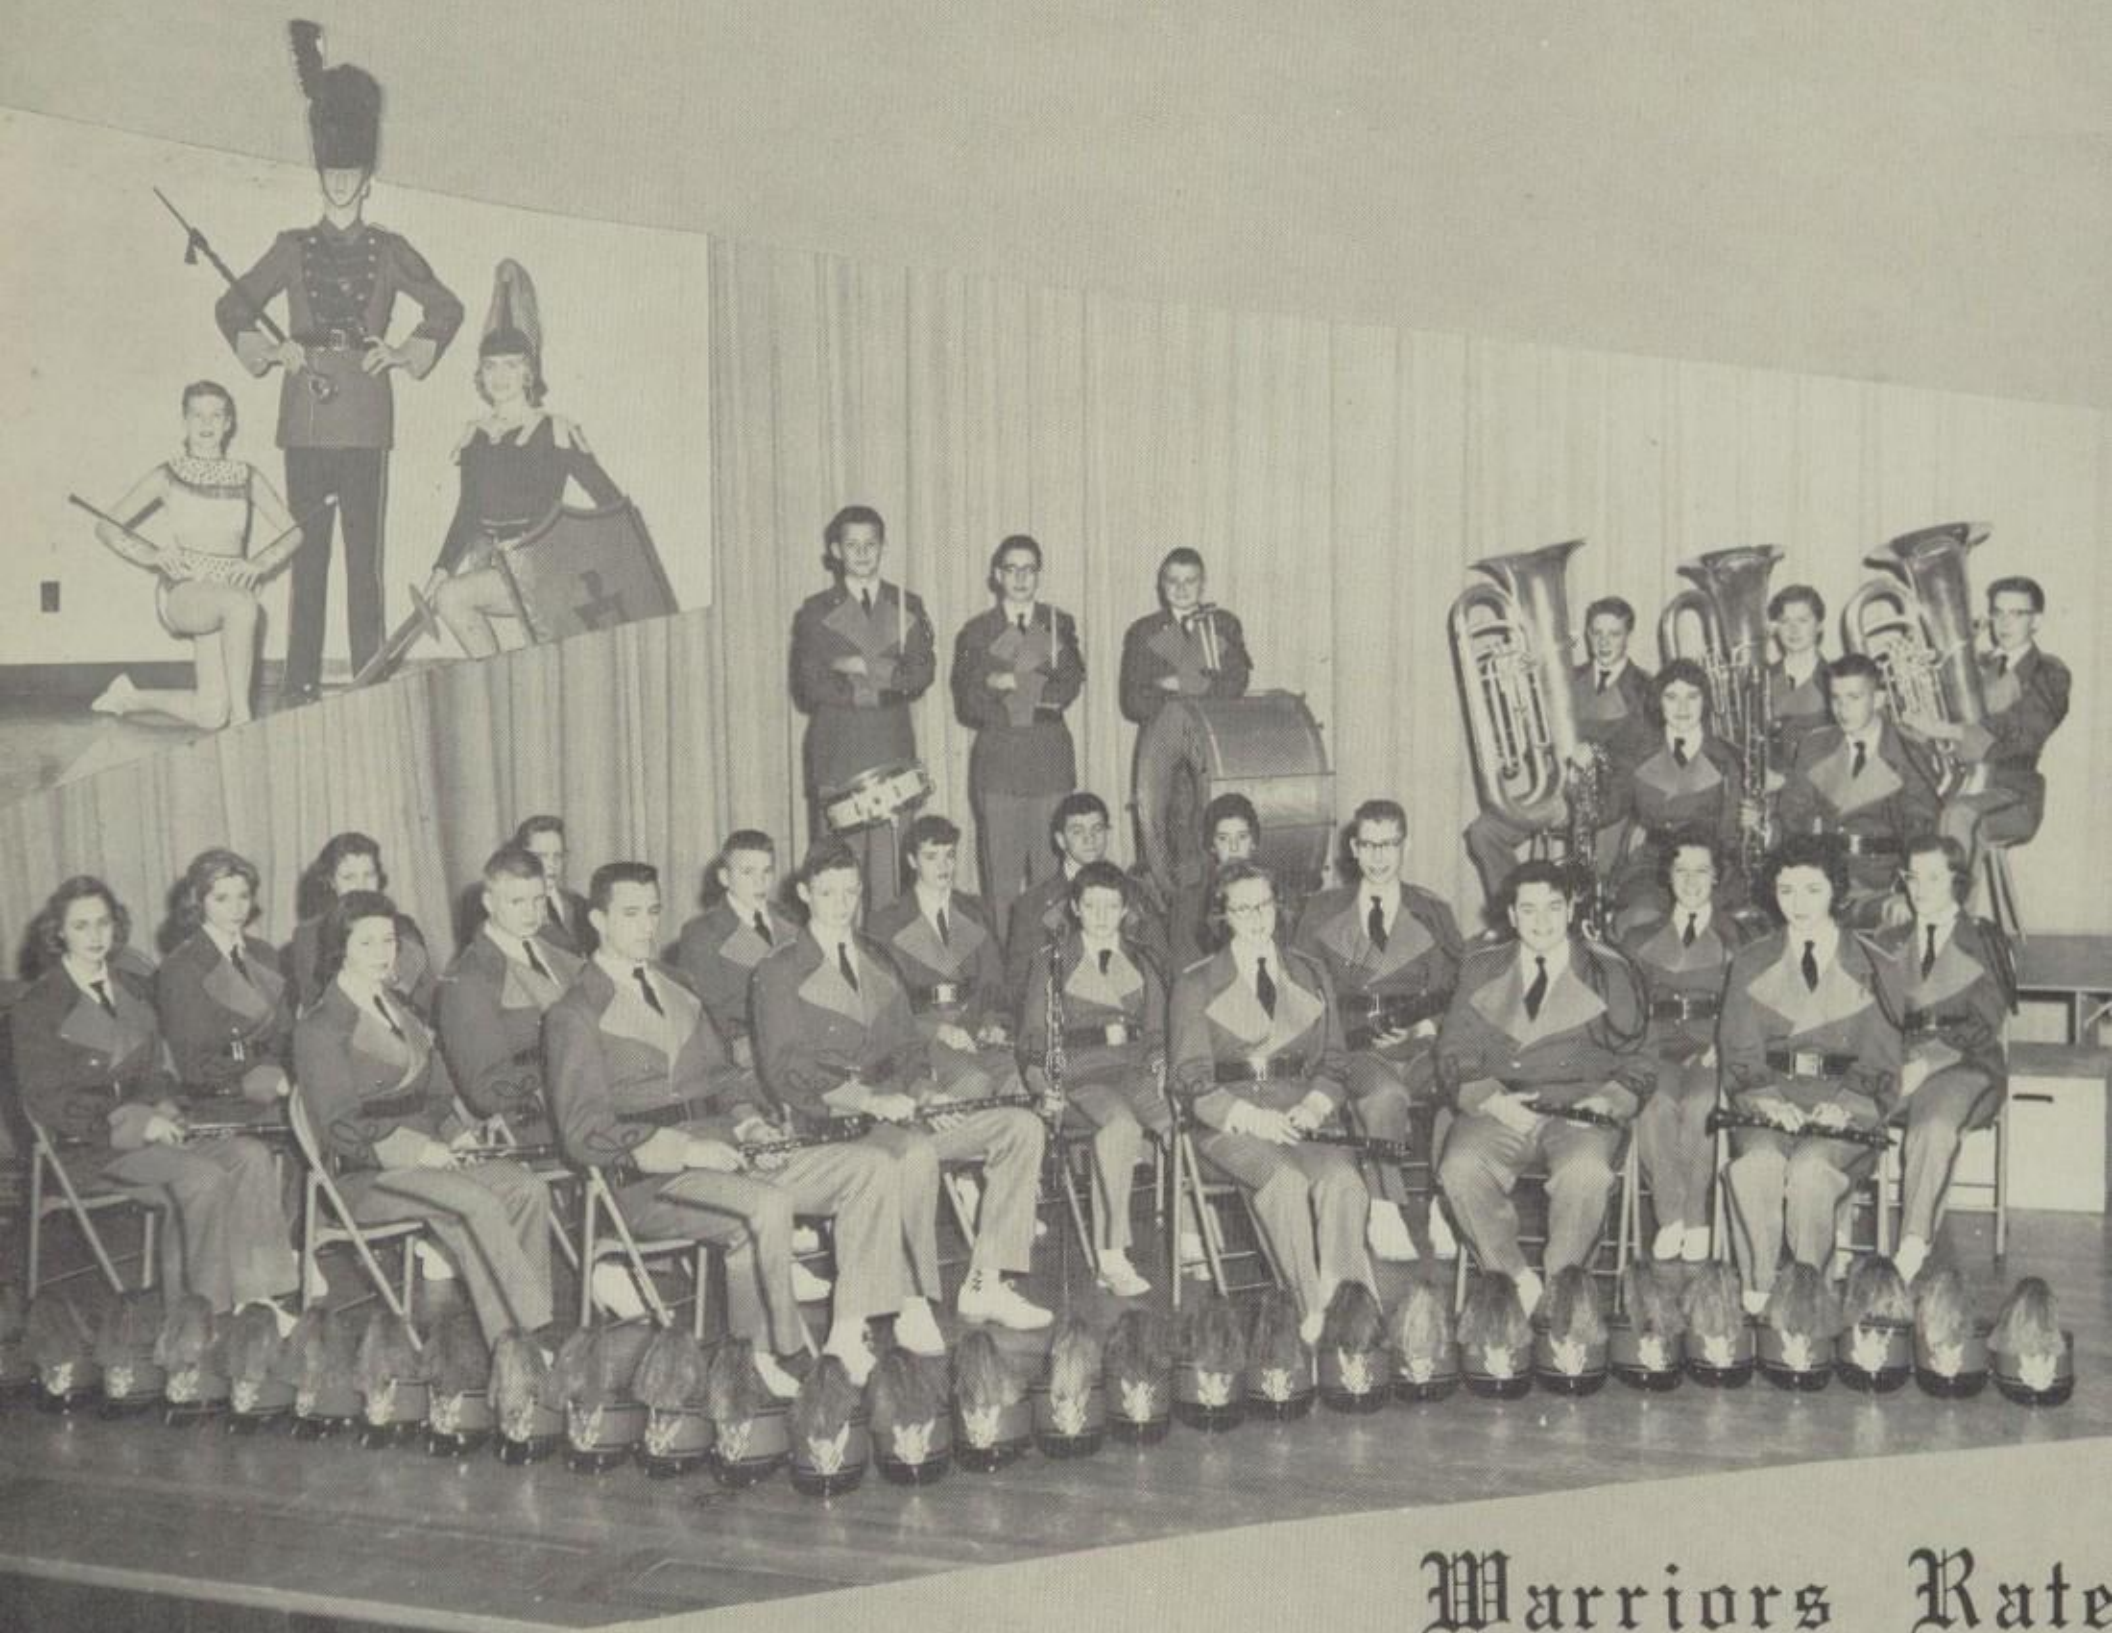

Then came silence, then a voice that the tonguester of the court had heard when full many a song they chanted when round them bent the spirit of the Tables Round. Voices ringing clear thro' the open casement of the halls clinging to each blade of grass. Ye might have moved slow measure to the tune, not stood stock-still but ye'll hold that thou hast some strange touch of music that shakes the countryside. Minstrel melody thus entertained the rustic murmur of the bourgh with the great wave that echos round the world. For ye heard a music, like anow. They are building still, see, the city if built to Music, therefore built forever.

Blow trumpet! for our sun grows mightier day by day.

The Warrior Band of 65 members had a full year of marching and concert activities. Trips to the Harvest of Harmony in Grand Island and the Norfolk football game highlighted the marching season. The University of Nebraska Band Day was also attended. Much rainy weather and sickness interfered with rehearsals and at times kept the band from appearing with all members present.

The initial concert appearance for the year was made February 4 when the Warrior Downbeat was presented. Other concerts included the high school Pop Convocation, February 25, the Boys Town Concert, March 4, and the Pre-Contest Musicals, April 15.

1 In District

The Concert Band traveled to Fremont on April 17 to compete in the District Music Contest. Top ratings were received from all three judges rewarding the band members for their very excellent performance of the Raymond Overture by Thomas.

A trip to the Doane College Band Day on May 6 completed the spring marching for the year, and the concert season ended with the band playing for the Commencement exercises.

A new innovation this year was the Band Recognition Banquet held in May. At this time the winner of the John Philip Sousa Award was announced and other band members were honored for their contest accomplishments.

VOCAL DEPARTMENT

The vocal department of Westside enjoyed one of its most rewarding years in the '57-'58 season. The early fall was devoted mainly to organization and preparation. One of the highlights of the fall season was the Thanksgiving convocation which was presented by the Top Choir. This was followed in late December by the Christmas program which included vocal groups from grades eight to twelve. The program was a fitting start for the long-awaited Christmas vacation. The winter was climaxed by the Westside Varieties of 1958.

1 In District

The first event of the spring semester was the Ak-sar-ben Vocal Clinic at Bellevue. Probably one of the most important single events of the year was the Music Contest at Fremont which was held in mid-April. The contest proved very profitable because out of seven entrees, seven superiors were awarded.

The Vocal Festival in early May was the culmination of the year's work and included all grades.

The final performance of the year was at the Baccalaureate services.

The Nights

The murmur of the world! What is it to them? Thro' open doors and hospitality; raised their own town in the night. On a sudden both in joy along the street, and heel against the pavement echoing, bursts many a drowse and cried "O friend, they seek a harborage for the night". Enter therefore and partake of the slender entertainment of the house.

For courtesy wins woman all as well as Valor may, but he that closes both is perfect.

The Westside debaters opened the '57-'58 season by winning a tri-state meet at Lincoln Northeast. A week later they traveled to William Chrisman High in Independence, Missouri, where they emerged second only to Neosho, Missouri. A second place was also awarded to them at Nebraska Wesleyan University.

The teams were again victorious at St. Olafs, Minnesota, and in Sioux City where they walked off with the sweepstakes. The season was ended with the taking of second place at the National Forensic League District Tournament in Hastings. Larry Myers won first place in oratory and gained the right to participate in the N. F. L. National Tournament at Augustana College in Sioux Falls, South Dakota in June.

County Government Day

County Government Day, an event exclusively for juniors, gave the American History students an opportunity to let their hair down.

The first step that Mr. Winchell's students took was to file for a chosen Federalist office. Mrs. Dunn's classes filed for the Nationalist offices. A primary election was held in each history class, and one chair for each office was nominated. The elected candidates then held a campaign rally for the senior high in the gym.

The Federalists carried two-thirds of the offices. They spent one day occupying their elected offices at the County Courthouse.

But though they leave for this quest, may count the yet-unbroken strength of all the knights, rejoicing in that Order which they made. For how many among thee at this very hour do forge a life for thyself, how many, until ye pass and reach that other where ye see as ye are seen, this one which last act of knighthood shalt thou see yet. For rolling far along the course of days of old and days to be cries "The glory of thy Table Round is still more."
